

Facebook Hack is an on-going series on my Twitter account where I distort any advertisement that I find to do with Facebook's current Friends campaign. This basically involves me altering the ad to display "Fiends" instead of "Friends"; a simply alteration but an act which comments on the current use of social networks.

